

Call for Papers for a Special Issue of Public Affairs Quarterly on

“Punishment, Blame, and Forgiveness”

This special issue will feature articles that bring philosophical analysis to bear on issues involving punishment, blame, and forgiveness, though there is no presumption that any one paper will focus on more than one of these themes. Possible topics include, but are not limited to, discussions of the following in general or in particular policy contexts (e.g., prison reform or abolition, health care, international relations, sports, education, the internet): justifications for punishment, alternatives to punishment, capital punishment, corporal punishment, punishment in non-legal contexts, punishment of children, the nature of blame, the function and justification of blame, standing to blame, blame and excuses, the nature of forgiveness, the value of forgiveness, self-forgiveness, forgiveness and reconciliation, and related subjects such as reparations and restitution.

Submissions on any philosophical topic relating to punishment, blame, or forgiveness will be considered. Submissions should be in Microsoft Word format and should be double-spaced and prepared for blind review. The journal prefers manuscripts of 4,000-10,000 words in length but articles outside these limits may still be considered. Articles intended for consideration for inclusion in this issue should be submitted by December 31, 2019 via the journal's online submission process at <http://ojs.press.illinois.edu/index.php/paq/>.

Questions about potential submissions should be directed to the Editor, David Boonin, at david.boonin@colorado.edu.

POSTMASTER

Send change of address to the University of Illinois Press, 1325 S. Oak Street, Champaign, IL 61820-6903.

REPRINTING AND COPYING

The History of Philosophy Quarterly regrets that it cannot make reprints available to authors. However, authors are authorized to send a limited number of PDF versions of their papers (no more than thirty) to selected colleagues after publication.

While the journal holds the copyright on materials published in its pages, it routinely accords contributors permission to reprint in books or anthologies authored or coauthored by themselves. All other requests to reprint should be addressed to the University of Illinois Press, 1325 S. Oak Street, Champaign, IL 61820-6903, UIP-RIGHTS@uillinois.edu.

For authorization to photocopy from History of Philosophy Quarterly for uses exceeding those permitted by Sections 107 and 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law, contact the Copyright Clearance Center (CCC), 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MD 01923. The CCC will send an invoice for permissions fees. Permissions given above do not extend to copying for advertising or promotional purposes or to creating new collective works.

The journal gives teachers and their institutions blanket permission for reproducing individual articles for class use at a fee of $2.00 per copy, payable in advance to the History of Philosophy Quarterly.

MANUSCRIPTS

Contributions may be as short as 3,000 words or as long as 8,500. All manuscripts should be typewritten with wide margins, and at least double spacing between lines. Authors should follow Chicago Manual of Style (17th edition) in preparing their manuscripts. Endnotes should be used sparingly and should be numbered consecutively, typed with wide margins and double spacing, and placed at the end of the paper. Submissions should be sent as a Microsoft Word or rich text file in an e-mail attachment to hpq@bu.edu. The journal will consider only papers whose authors certify that, while under consideration with us, their papers will not be submitted elsewhere for consideration.

Articles for publication and all other editorial communications and enquiries should be addressed to: Professor Aaron Garrett; Editor, History of Philosophy Quarterly; Department of Philosophy; Boston University; 745 Commonwealth Avenue, STH 619, Boston, MA 02215.

BUSINESS OFFICE

Subscriptions apart, all correspondence on business matters should be addressed to: Ms. Dorothy Henle, North American Philosophical Publications, Inc., 1033 Milton Ave., Swissvale, PA 15218.

AMERICAN PHILOSOPHICAL QUARTERLY

Over the years, the APQ has established itself as one of the principal English vehicles for the publication of scholarly work in philosophy. The whole of each issue—printed in a large-page, double-column format—is devoted to articles; there are no discussion pieces, book reviews, or critical notices. The editorial policy is to publish substantial work of high quality, regardless of the school of thought from which it derives.

The journal is published four times a year, in January, April, July, and October. Subscriptions should be sent to: Journals Dept., University of Illinois Press, 1325 S. Oak St., Champaign, IL 61820; phone: 217-244-0626; fax: 217-244-8082; e-mail: journals@uillinois.edu; www.press.uillinois.edu ($60 for individuals; $346 print or electronic only or $389 for print and electronic for institutions). All other correspondence, or submissions for possible publication, should be addressed to:

PUBLIC AFFAIRS QUARTERLY

Public Affairs Quarterly (PAQ) publishes work in all areas of practically engaged normative philosophy, broadly understood to include normative work on issues of public concern in applied moral, social, political, and legal philosophy. Topics covered by the journal include subjects of long-standing debate such as abortion, capital punishment, and just war theory; more recently emerging subjects of controversy such as climate change, affirmative action, commercial surrogacy, and the treatment of non-human animals; topics relating to current social movements such as racism and sexual harassment, and to current technological developments such as gene editing and autonomous weapons systems. Submissions of a more general nature that address implications for a cluster of such issues rather than focusing on a single issue are welcome. These topics include race, sexuality, gender, social identity, nationalism, paternalism, privacy, distributive justice, economic fairness, political inequality, and commodification.

The journal is published four times a year, in January, April, July, and October. Subscriptions should be sent to the Journals Department, University of Illinois Press, 1325 S. Oak St., Champaign, IL 61820; phone: 217-244-0626; fax: 217-244-8082; e-mail: journals@uillinois.edu; www.press.uillinois.edu ($60 for individuals; $346 print or electronic only or $389 for print and electronic for institutions).
