

JOURNAL OF APPALACHIAN STUDIES

VOLUME 21, NUMBER 1
SPRING 2015

The Journal of Appalachian Studies (JAS), the official journal of the ASA, is a refereed, multidisciplinary journal published twice per year by the University of Illinois Press for the Appalachian Studies Association (ASA) with support from Marshall University. JAS seeks to provide a written forum for quality scholarship on Appalachian history, culture, and society. The Journal of Appalachian Studies supersedes earlier publications of the Appalachian Studies Association, including Proceedings and Journal of the Appalachian Studies Association.

Subscriptions: Regular individual subscription rates are $100 per year (student rate $80), and include annual membership in the Appalachian Studies Association. Annual library and institutional rates are $70 for print only; $105 for print and electronic; and $85 for electronic only. There is an additional postage charge of $10 for mailing addresses in Canada and Mexico and $15 for all other non-U.S. addresses. All business inquiries (subscriptions, advertisements, changes of address) should be addressed to the University of Illinois Press, 1325 South Oak Street, Champaign, IL 61820, USA (217-244-0626; journals@uillinois.edu; www.press.uillinois.edu).

Manuscript Submissions: We are interested in articles based on original empirical research, including applied research, as well as literary criticism and reflections on conceptual, theoretical, and methodological issues in Appalachian studies. Given the Journal's broad readership, we encourage consideration of the wider implications of each study. Submissions must be written in a style that can be understood by non-specialists.

We will consider rigorous scholarship from scholars, teachers, activists, and others whose work focuses on the Appalachian region. The current editor invites scholarship which compares the Appalachian region to other regions in the world and places the region in a critical, global context. All submissions are expected to demonstrate an understanding of relevant Appalachian studies literature.

Articles should be submitted electronically to the JAS online manuscript submission portal: <http://caxton.press.illinois.edu/journals/ojs/index.php/jas/user/register>. This secure, personalized resource will allow you to track your manuscript through each step of the review and acceptance process. Your transmitted material will be reviewed as soon as possible. Submissions should be double-spaced and numbered in Times New Roman, 12 point font.

Please follow the word count limits below:

- Articles: should be between 5,000–7,000 words including notes, citations, and references.
- Teaching, Community, and Research Notes: a maximum of 4,000 words including notes, citations, and references.

Submitted manuscripts need not follow the Journal's format for references, notes, etc.; however, once accepted for publication, manuscripts must be reformatted according to the Journal's specifications.

- JAS uses a blind review system, so do not include your name or affiliation on the manuscript. Instead, include this information on a separate cover page.
- Please include a brief bio of each author (no more than 20 words per person) on the cover page. Sample bio: Linda Spatig is a professor of educational leadership at Marshall University and associate editor of the Journal of Appalachian Studies.
- On a separate page, please include an abstract of up to 200 words.
- Submit permissions for any text, images, or other content protected by copyright. Consent to publish forms will be provided to authors for signature.

In a cover letter, the author should verify that the manuscript has not been published previously and is not being submitted for publication elsewhere. Authors will receive a confirmation upon submission. Direct inquiries regarding editorial matters to: Mary K. Thomas (Managing Editor) or Christopher Leadingham (Assistant Managing Editor) at asa@marshall.edu; phone: 304-696-2904.
