Dialogue: A Journal of Mormon Thought is an independent quarterly established to express Mormon culture and to examine the relevance of religion to secular life.

Edited by:
Taylor Petrey

It is published by the Dialogue Foundation and edited by Latter-day Saints who wish to bring their faith into dialogue with the larger stream of world religious thought and with human experience as a whole and to foster artistic and scholarly achievement based on their cultural heritage.
AVAILABLE NOW

Inaugural books in the new series Introductions to Mormon Thought
Series Editors: Matthew Bowman & Joseph M. Spencer

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS PRESS