OPEN ACCESS AND SELF-ARCHIVING POLICY

The Journal of Finnish Studies allows immediate self-archiving, by our contributors, of the published version of their own articles, in institutional repositories—with proper reference to the Journal of Finnish Studies volume, issue, and page numbers. With a 6-month embargo starting from the month of publication, the Journal of Finnish Studies also allows such self-archiving through public websites.

All volumes of the Journal of Finnish Studies are available for electronic download from the journal's website ("Covers and Contents"), with a twelve-month delay from issue date for the benefit of our paying subscribers. Since no government subsidies support academic journals in the United States, our traditional subscriptions are what makes it possible for us to continue publishing serious academic research, in English, about Finland and the Finnish diaspora for a global audience.

Subscriptions to the Journal of Finnish Studies are available via our website: http://www.shsu.edu/~eng_ira/finnishstudies/JFS_subs_and_ads.html

For a cumulative bibliography of articles published in the Journal of Finnish Studies, see http://www.shsu.edu/~eng_ira/finnishstudies/JoFS_Articles.pdf.

Hardcopies of back issues are available directly from the editor at jofinnishstudies@gmail.com.

Cover: Coat of arms of the Grand Duchy of Finland, 1809–1917. Within the coat of arms of Imperial Russia (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Coat_of_arms_of_Russia#1721%E2%80%931917:_Russian_Empire), on the chest of the black double-headed Russian eagle, the lion of Finland: “[O]n a red field strewn with silver roses a crowned lion of gold, holding in the right forepaw an upright sword and in the left one a curved sword on which it rests with the right hindpaw” (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Coat_of_arms_of_Finland).

Cover design: Scott Kaukonen

The Journal of Finnish Studies expresses its gratitude to the Department of English and the College of Humanities and Social Sciences at Sam Houston State University for the important institutional support provided. We also thank Suomi-Seura r.y. (Finland Society) and Finland’s Ministry of Education and Culture for the media grant provided for the publication costs of this issue.
