Submission Guidelines
for

JOURNAL of SPORT HISTORY

- Authors should follow the Chicago Manual of Style, 16th edition.
- Manuscripts must be in English. American conventions in spelling and punctuation should be used throughout.
- The author's name should appear on the cover page only as manuscripts are evaluated anonymously.
- An abstract of no more than 150 words should be included at the beginning of the article.
- 3 or 4 "keywords" should be included at the beginning of the article following the abstract.
- The entire article, including block quotations, endnotes, and figure captions should be double-spaced with at least a one-inch margin on all sides. All pages should be numbered consecutively throughout. Manuscripts should not exceed 8,000 words including notes.
- Authors are responsible for obtaining any copyright permissions.
- Tables and graphs should be sent as separate files, not as part of the main text, and clear indication given as to their appropriate position within the article.
- Illustrations are encouraged but not required. At submission stage an indication of suitable material is all that is necessary as precise details will be determined once an article has been accepted for publication.

Contributions should be submitted electronically to the Journal of Sport History online manuscript submission system. This secure, personalized resource will allow you to track your manuscript through each step of the review and acceptance process. To begin, see http://www.press.uillinois.edu/journals/jsh/article_submissions.html to set up your personal account and upload your submission. Your transmitted material will be reviewed as soon as possible.

Articles accepted for the Journal of Sport History should demonstrate international quality of scholarship, rigor, and analysis. It would also be an advantage in terms of likely publication if the piece addresses a significant issue, even if only by contextualization, and is likely to be widely cited. All articles generally go to two referees, at least one (and preferably two) of whom are members of the Editorial Board. The comments of the reviewers are then edited and a collective review is sent to the author.

For further style guidance, please see previous issues of the Journal of Sport History or refer to the more detailed directions at: http://www.press.uillinois.edu/journals/jsh/article_submissions.html.
