THE POLISH REVIEW

The Polish Review is a peer-reviewed, multidisciplinary scholarly quarterly. It aims to disseminate new research in the various fields of Polish studies broadly understood. To accomplish this goal, the Review publishes original research articles, review essays, book reviews, and annotated translations of documents and literary works. It also encourages comparative research methodologies that provide a wider context for Polish studies. The journal uses a double-blind peer-review process. The editors accept no responsibility for statements of fact or opinion made by contributors.

The Polish Review is indexed in ABC POL SCI; America: History and Life; American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies; Bibliographic Index; Current Abstracts; Historical Abstracts; Index of Articles on Jewish Studies; International Political Science Abstracts; MLA International Bibliography; Periodical Index Online; PubMed; TOC Premier; JSTOR; and EBSCO. It is also listed among the journals recognized by the American Historical Association and the Polish Ministry of Education and Research.
