Utah Historical Quarterly (UHQ) is Utah’s journal of record, published quarterly on behalf of the Utah Historical Society since 1928. The UHQ’s mission, from its earliest issues to the present, is to publish articles on all aspects of Utah history, as well as to present Utah in the larger context of the West. Even as UHQ continues its commitment to themes traditionally associated with Utah history, it challenges readers and authors to think across state lines to the forces of history, physiography, and culture that link Utah to a host of people, places, experiences, and trends beyond its geopolitical boundaries. UHQ seeks a regional approach, reflecting Utah’s geographic and cultural position at the crossroads of the West.

UHQ’s editorial style emphasizes scholarly credibility and accessible language. Manuscripts dealing with any aspect of Utah history will be considered. Submissions based on allied disciplines—such as archaeology, folklore, and ethnography—are also encouraged, so long as the focus is on the past.

In 1927, public-spirited Utahns organized the Utah State Historical Society in order to expand public understanding of Utah’s past. Today, the Society publishes the Utah Historical Quarterly (ISSN 0042-143X; eISSN 2642-8652), which has collected and preserved Utah’s history since 1928. The Society, which is part of the Utah Department of Cultural and Community Engagement, also collects materials related to the history of Utah and makes them available online and in a research library. Administers the Utah History Day program, offers extensive online resources; and assumes public policy and the promotion of Utah’s rich history.

UHQ is published quarterly in winter, spring, summer, and fall by the University of Illinois Press for the Utah Historical Society. Members of the Society receive UHQ upon payment of annual dues. Visit history.utah.gov to join the Utah Historical Society and receive your own copy of the journal. For institutional subscriptions, see https://www.press.illinois.edu/journals/uhq/uhq.html.
